at 3:30 p. m., and 6:30 p. m. Rev. Frank Hall Wright, the evan-is a man whose history, Rev. Frank Hall Wright, the evangelist, is a man whose history, achievementa, and personality might well attract unusual attention. He is everywhere spoken of as "the Indian Evangelist," though he is in reality only a half indian, his father being a full blooded Choctaw indian, and his mother, Scotch Irish, Mr. Wright's father was left an orphan at an early age and was adopted by a missionary to the indians. He became a Christian and decladed to get an education, and graduated at Union college at Schenectady, N. Y., and ati Union Theologica. Seminary, of New York City. Just 30 years later, Frank Hall Wright, the sen graduated from these institutions. Mr. Wright was converted when he was 13 years of age. After graduation from the seminary he preached among the Choctaw indians for five years, after which he became an evangelist and preached in New York and New Jersey. Later, he again took up work as a missionary to the Indians, this time working among the Blanket indians in Okiahoma, being maintained in that work by the Dutch Reformed church.

But for many years now he has been giving his time exclusively to evangelistic work among the English speaking people in the northeast and southwest.

Crowds throng his meetings wherever he goes, and it not infrequently becomes necessary to change to a larger auditorium after the meetings have begun. A church paper recently said of him. "He is an ideal evangelist. By him not one harsh word is attered, but the truth of God is driven home with convincing power and without compromise."

Why Not Make

Your Show Windows

Work 18 Hours a Day Instead of 12?

People have more time after dark to examine the displays in your windows than they have during the busy daylight hours.

A well arranged, well lighted show window is like a handsome picture in a frame. That is why people stop to look at it at night although they pass it by in the day. But the next day they come in and buy.

Modern electric show window lighting brings increased public esteem and increased patronage.

Let our New Business Department explain the small cost of good show window lighting and how it is done.
